I've been matched with a family since September and it's been the greatest experience!

My sister family is in Mississippi and writes often, is very appreciative of everything I send, always sends thank you notes right away and never asked for anything...until early February. The mother wrote me about the grades the girls just received in school, the latest details with her local volunteer work, and also mentioned they had run out of food! She asked if I could send her a couple cans of Spam. I felt terrible. For the past few months I'd been sending toiletries, Christmas gifts, supplies for their hobbies, school supplies, etc. and completely forgot about sending them food. I guess I just took it for granted that they would have food. I went to the store the day I got the letter and sent out a big box right away.

Well, today I got a letter and A BOX! The family had sent me a letter to thank me for the food and had also put together a small box of gifts so I would know how great it felt to get a box. Not only do I feel so good about being able to help a family that is less fortunate than my own, but I feel lucky that I have been able to meet such wonderful people. Thanks Box Project!
